

Indiana Mineral Aggregates Association

The Aggregates Industry

Includes Numerous

Career Paths

For individuals interested in learning more about the industry, explore the careers below. From Accounting to Environmental to Engineering and beyond, there is something for everyone in the industry. If you are looking to be a part of something that's product impacts everything from the roads you drive on to the toothpaste you use, a career in this industry is for you.

Accounting & Finance

Responsible for financial operations and analyzing financial reports and records, making studies or recommendations relative to the accounting of reserves, assets, and expenditures.

Careers Include:

- Accountant
- Chief Financial Officer
- Manager Accounting
- Manager Credit & Collections

Environmental

Responsible for assuring the operations within an area are in compliance with local, state, and federal environmental laws and regulations and maintaining professional knowledge of environmental issues.

Careers Include:

- Environmental Services Manager

Geology & Engineering

Responsible for applying geologic principals to exploration of rock deposits in geology careers. Responsible for applying engineering principals to production facilities in engineering careers.

Careers Include:

- District Engineer
- Electrical Engineer
- Engineer
- Environmental Engineering
- Geologist
- Manager Geological Services
- Managing Engineer

Information Technology

Responsible for the design, management, and maintenance of the varied components of information technology systems related to the industry.

Careers Include:

- Micro Computer Support Specialist

Logistics

Responsible for operations and logistics including transportation management, inventory management, analytics, and successful delivery of product.

Careers Include:

- Buyer
- Distribution/Transportation Manager
- Manager Purchasing
- Plant Clerk
- Plant Manager
- Plant Office Administrator

Manufacturing Operations

Responsible for processing of aggregates for future use and maintaining manufacturing operations.

Careers Include:

- Central Maintenance Manager
- Chief Operating Officer
- Foreman/Supervisor
- Maintenance Manager
- Management Trainee
- Manager Quality Control
- Production Manager
- Quality Control Representative
- Vice President Operations

Safety & Health

Responsible for the company's safety and health program. Responsible for the developing and implementing policies and protecting training to insure the safety of all personnel and facilities.

Careers Include:

- Human Resource Specialist
- Manager Human Resources
- Safety & Health Manager
- Safety & Health Representative

Sales & Marketing

Responsible for marketing, Sales and promoting product(s) in an aggregate industry. Also must maintain productive working relationships with customers and operations.

Careers Include:

- Area/District Sales Manager
- Senior Sales Representative
- Vice President Sales